FGM Class of 2012 graduates

*"Be who you are and say what you feel,
Because ... those who mind don't matter, and those who matter don't mind..."*

Thirty-four members of the F. G. Miller Class of 2012 were ushered into the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre to the strains of their favourite songs and were introduced by former classmate Dawson Lowry as they took the stage for their graduation.

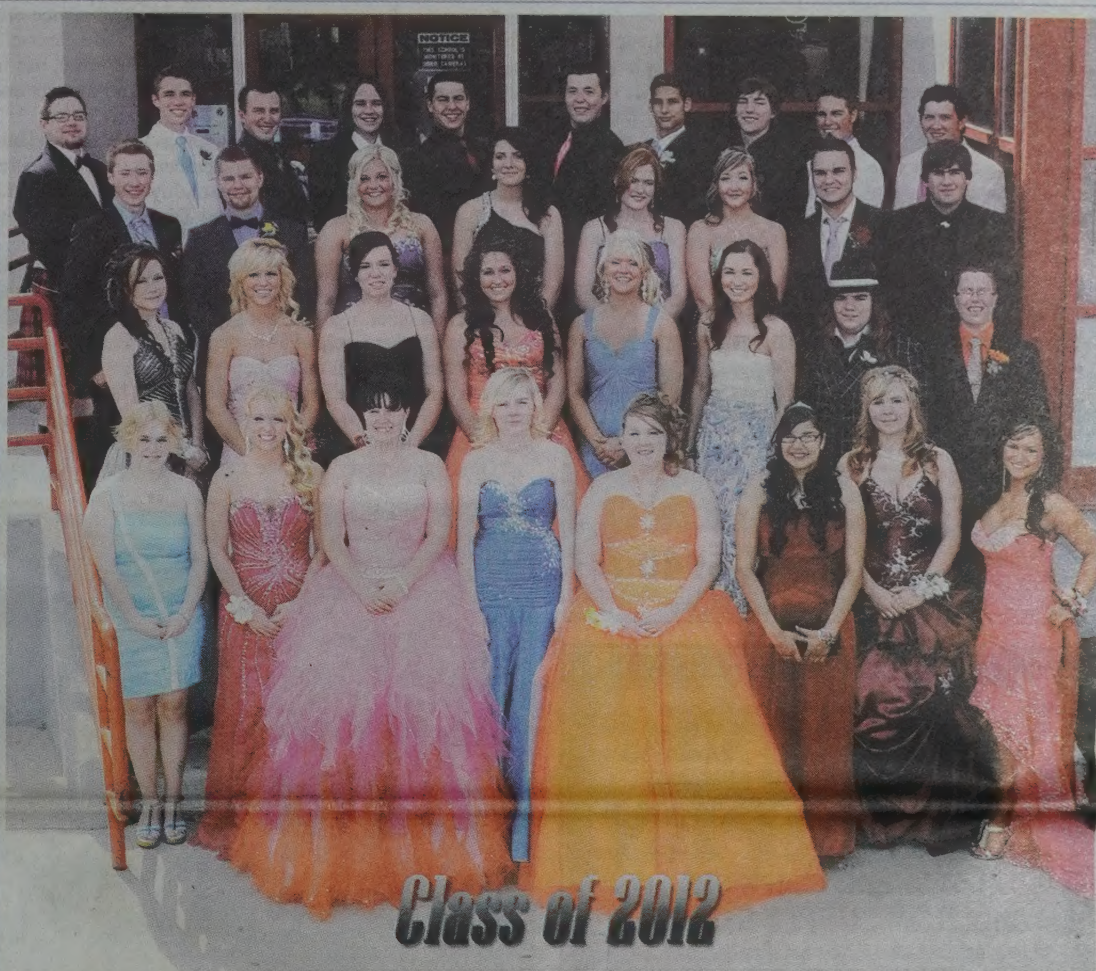

Welcoming parents, family, friends and special guests to the Saturday, June 30 celebration, FGM principal Colin Bjorkman noted, "I say 'Graduation 2012' because I am completely confident that all of these students will graduate." He called the ceremonies "a rite of passage" from childhood to adulthood, and told the class, "It's an important transition in your lives, your last opportunity as a group to make memories together. It has been very much a pleasure to be your principal."

Departing teachers Suzanne Beckett and Laura Lilje gave the invocation, asking the community to support the class in their first-time journey into the adult world. They urged the grad, "Believe in yourselves and have conviction in all you do. Watching you grow has taught us about life."

Valedictorian Kelsey Lindquist sought direction from an expert in preparing her speech, she noted, having consulted her father, Jim, who had been waledictorian 40 years ago. "We both found ourselves in the rather peculiar situation of giving motivational advice when we weren't exactly the best to advise on a future we knew nothing about."

Instead, she decided to "reflect on the journey so far. Kindergarten was the most important year," she felt, when she learned such skills as sharing, playing fair, saying 'I'm sorry', learning some and thinking some, holding and sticking together. "Everything you need to know is in there somewhere. Carry that wisdom forward, be comfortable with who you are, find an interest and be inspired, and never stop learning."

Canada Day in Elk Point was packed with fun and activities from the first pancake flipped around 8 a.m. to the last burst of spectacular fireworks as early summer dusk fell more than 15 hours later.

While Elk Point Chamber of Commerce members and Servus Credit Union staff were still flipping pancakes and pouring coffee downtown, representatives of local churches led an interdenominational worship service at the Canada Day stage, with Pastor Jim MacLellan of Elk Point Baptist Church offering the opening prayer.

Representatives of the Ukrainian Orthodox and Ukrainian Catholic Churches gave Bible readings and all joined in some well-loved hymns before Allen Warawa gave a thought-provoking message, urging all to follow Scripture's urging to be thankful for all the blessings, large and small, in our lives. "We can be joyous, and we can make a difference in our community, our province and our country."

Marie Srdic of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church led a final prayer before Pastor Bill Kryzanowski of the Elk Point Christian Community Church offered closing remarks.

School trustee Darrell Younghans thanked the parents who "pushed, cajoled and sometimes threatened" the students to get them to school each day, the teachers and staff of this and other schools and the community, noting that "We are fortunate that we see job opportunities here at home for many of our grads, and this helps keep the community strong, vibrant and growing."

Admittedly "not a fan of long grad themes," as they are hard to work into a speech, Younghans said that "As I read yours, I realized you are already heading in the direction of following your decision, no matter who says it's frivolous, don't ever lose that direction, that determination. No matter what life throws in your way, keep on working toward your dreams."

"It is a great honour to represent our community," Kehewin First Nations Chief Eric Gadwa said, "I am proud to be presenting an eagle feather and a blanket to one of our member," Lacy Gadwa Badger. The eagle feather represents protection, the blanket "represents many things in our culture." Gadwa and his wife Linda made the presentation, the chief noting that more professionals, such as doctors, nurses and teachers are needed in their community. "Right now there is nothing but oil, but we will survive on other opportunities."

Coun. Bernice Capjack congratulated the grads on behalf of Mayor Parrish Tung and council on "A real accomplishment. You have done it and I knew you would," as the Grade 5 teacher for many of them. Now they have before them "A new adventure in life. You are prepared for it and I am confident you will succeed." As a town and a community, she noted, "We are always glad to see these grads come back and make their homes here. At 17 and 18, many people can't wait to get out of here, and we thought the same thing, but many of us came home."

St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1 Assistant Superintendent Dalane Imeson said the occasion was "a bittersweet combination of sadness and excitement, a turning point. You've chosen an apt theme, it's excellent advice that I hope you will heed. Oscar Wilde said, 'Be yourself. Everyone else is taken.' Be heard. You have a voice, use it, but listen to those who matter. Figure out who matters and who doesn't."

Imeson presented scrolls to the grads as Lilje and Melanie Sloan gave a brief history of each member. A slide show prepared by Kelsey Lindquist and Seanna Joye Leaf followed.

Josh Aarbo, Chelsea Botting and Dino Meger gave the class message.

"Since we were four years old, we've been preparing for this day," Botting said, recalling Grade Six camp, Christmas concerts and other highlights of their school years. "Parents, our own and others, helped us through our lives, and we hope our future choices will make them proud."

Aarbo thanked the teachers "for always helping us, for staying after class to help or coach us and for teaching us more lessons than we learned in the classroom."

"Grad came faster than we thought," Meger said. "This town has been home for many of us, and accepted others who came here. Elk Point is where we learned to ride a bike and got our first jobs. The wind in our sails came from the love of our community."

The trio presented gifts to grad treasurer Margaret White and MC Dawson Lowry.

Grad advisor Cheri Lindquist said she was very proud of the accomplishments of the class, with 27 of the 34 completing their diploma requirements in the first semester, and only two of the remaining seven having to write departmental exams this semester, while the rest worked on subjects that would fulfill their credit requirements.

The Class of 2012 is her final class as grad advisor after 25 years, and she recalled many fads and fashions over the years, with decorating ranging from flower-making parties to balloon drops, themes ranging from two words to a paragraph and fashions ranging from Scarlett O'Hara to Hollywood chic, "but no matter the style, they looked so grownup." After 25 years, she said, "my advice is, sometimes life throws you a curve. Be positive, be flexible, have a sense of humor, and never, ever compromise your principles. This is my last year of teaching, my last CALM class, and I must remind you all not to go out without your ILAC card: 'I am lovable and capable...'"

Amber Ference and Wyatt Dewan presented Lindquist with a gift of appreciation.

The ceremony concluded with the presentation of the ceremonial Crusader sword, with Wyatt Dewan and Bailey Oster making the presentation to Mandy Berg and Nicole Plunkie of the Class of 2013.

Mortarboards flew into the air to a huge burst of applause, before the Class of 2012 left the stage to receive the congratulations of friends and family.

- Some people feel that an alcoholic drink at night helps them sleep. However alcohol's effect on sleep has been studied well and although it can help initiate sleep it doesn't result in sleeping through the night. Generally sleep quality was poorer in women who had a pre-bedtime drink.
- A new type of hearing aid is now being marketed in Europe and the U.S. Called Sound-Bite, it directs sound through the jawbone and into the inner ear. The device is custom-made for each patient and is positioned onto the upper left or right molars. Sound is conducted right to the inner ear-bypassing the middle and outer ear. Not yet available in Canada, however.
- We are taught as youngsters that sharing is a good thing and it is. But sharing medications is not so good. What may work for you could be very bad for the person with whom you are sharing.
- Speaking of sharing, if you are using an insulin pen to administer your insulin, do not share it with another diabetic. Even though these pens are multiple-use syringes and the needle is changed each time, they are meant for only one person. There is a risk of passing blood pathogens from one person to another.
- Are you able to look at each of your medication bottles and know what each drug is used for? It is important to know this information. If you don't, check with our pharmacists. We are here to help.

E.D.C Highlights

The last chapter of the book the "13 Ways to Kill Your Community" is titled "Don't Take Responsibility", and in it Griffiths attempts to show us how important it is for all of us to take responsibility for where our community is today. Not one person is to blame for the lack of growth in our community, but rather we all played a part in one way or another. Let us explain:

Don't Take Responsibility

"Griffiths has received many compliments on the 13 Ways speech he gives to communities. One of the only criticisms he's received was from a gentleman who criticized him for being so negative and critical. Griffiths reminded him that 13 Ways is meant to be taken tongue-in-cheek and designed to point out some of the things we do that damage our community without understanding their impact, but he was not interested and merely screamed over the phone until he hung up on Griffiths".

"The interesting point about the gentleman who called was that every problem that he mentioned was someone else's fault. Low agriculture commodity prices, closed borders, lack of processing, lack of volunteers for community fundraising, lack of new businesses in town, lack of truck drivers, lack of, well... everything, essentially. Many enterprising and entrepreneurial people find that the lack of something isn't a roadblock, but an opportunity. Positive thinking people see problems as opportunities to make money, to develop new skills, to meet new people, or sometimes, just a new challenge or experience. Negative people don't just see challenges as tough; they see them as impossible to overcome and can't help but focus on what is wrong, unable to see how it could be made right, and often by them".

"If your ultimate goal is to bring about the failure of your community the thirteenth way to ensure that is to ensure you and no one else you know ever takes responsibility for anything that is wrong in your community. Spend time talking to others too and convince them that everything that is wrong is someone else's fault and someone else's responsibility, that way, you and everyone you know will not feel compelled to become involved to fix the problems. Don't ever take responsibility or you may just lead your community to successful initiatives".

What Griffiths is trying to show us, is that if we want to see our town grow and thrive, then it is up to all of us to get involved and make it happen. If you are tired of the status quo, then speak up, and let our Mayor and Council know. Tell them that you want to see our town grow and thrive, tell them that you're tired of your taxes going up, tell them that you would like to see more businesses in town, tell them that you would like to see more things for the kids to do, but more importantly, tell them that you are prepared to roll up your sleeves and get to work alongside of them.

If you are interested in being part of the solution, then here are some things you can do today to make Elk Point truly "The Right Place to Be":

- Get involved.
- Focus on the future, forget about the past. Remember this; nobody has the ability to change the past, but everyone has the ability to shape our future.
- Support our local businesses, without them your taxes would be significantly higher.
- Start a business; the opportunities are endless in our community.
- Speak up; tell our Elected Officials what you want to see, because without your input they have no way of knowing what our community really wants and needs.

Basically what we are asking each and every one of you to do is to take a good look in the mirror, and ask yourself, what can I do to be the change I want to see?

We hope that you have enjoyed our review of the "13 Ways to Kill Your Community", and look forward to seeing more people getting involved in steering our community in the right direction.

Sincerely,

Volunteers to the max!

Once again, Elk Point's very successful Canada Day celebration was a massive event brought about by the combined efforts of a virtual army of volunteers, both individuals and those from numerous community groups that willingly lend a hand to make it a success.

Less than a week later, the focus shifted to Stoney Lake, where another army of dedicated workers celebrated 50 years of volunteering that has made the Stoney Lake Stampede a resounding success year after year.

These two events put our area on the map every July, and they would not be possible without all the volunteer hours that contribute to our enjoyment.

Thanks a million to every one of you!

YOUR VIEWS

Canada Day, poetry and prom

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF JULY 10 IN...

1987

Mayor Byron Mann and a group of Boy Scouts marked the 80th anniversary of Scouting in Canada and the 60th anniversary of Scouting in Elk Point by planting a maple tree during the opening ceremonies of the Canada Day celebrations. Jackie Gulayec and Joanne Wozniak were named Elk Point's Youth of the Year.

1992

Voyageurs '92, a group of young adults from St. Thomas, Aylmer and Springfield, Ontario, toured a number of local points of interest, including Canadian Salt, Amoco, Fort George and Buckingham House and the grain elevators on their exchange program which also took them to the Calgary Stampede, Banff and Jasper. The Hon. Ray Brassard, the Minister Responsible for Seniors, was impressed with the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre, which he toured with the Seniors Advisory Committee.

1997

Canada Day celebrations were a great salute to 90 years of settlement, with descendants of families who came to the area between 1907 and 1927 signing a special guest book and receiving ribbons identifying them as descendants, and both Canadian and American flags flying over the new outdoor stage during the afternoon show. Town council was back at full strength after Walter Lesyk answered the call for by-election nominations and was appointed by acclamation.

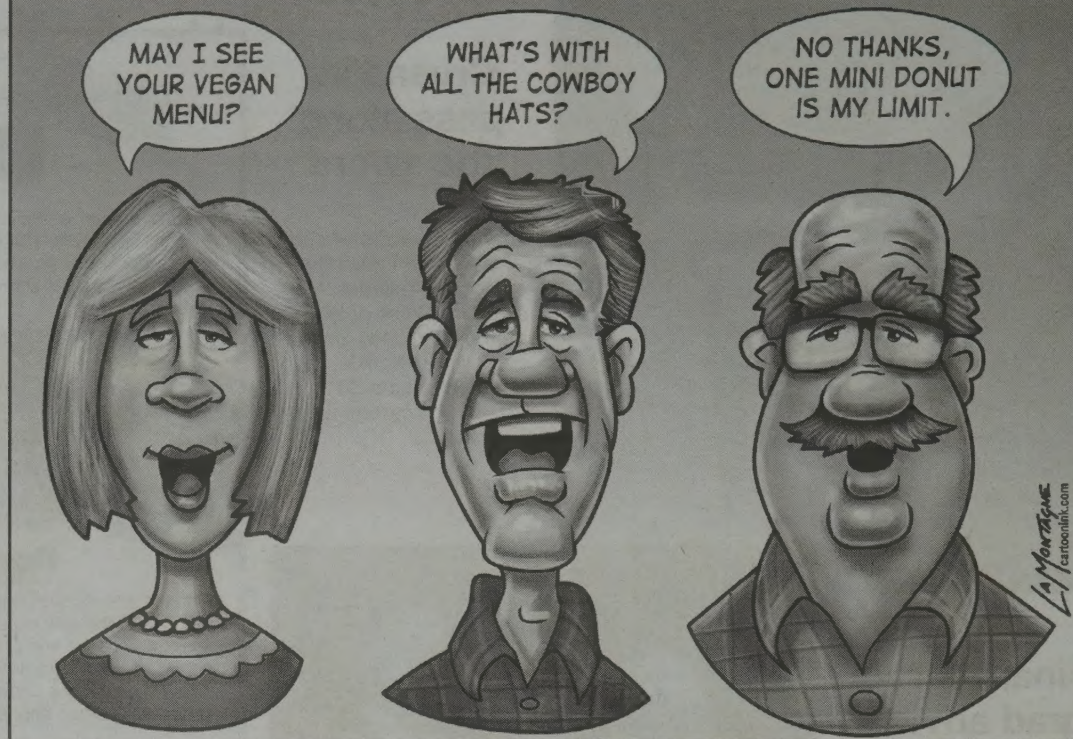

2002

Canada Day was celebrated under sunny skies with Ollie Fedorus and his "Journey Through the Century" train laded with costumed youngsters winning the parade Theme category as the community celebrated the nation's 135th birthday. Heinsburg hosted their first and very successful cowboy poetry gathering, which featured poets from across Alberta and BC and a full slate of musical talent.

2007

"Forever and always unforgotten" was the theme of F. G. Miller's Prom 2007, where Sage Lowry, Rosie Jurak and Sara Kozicky delivered a message of love and gratitude from the Class of 2007 and Tyson Sommerville and Emily Mosley introduced each of their classmates as they came forward to accept county and school pins. Everything from a bed race to a pyrohy dinner to a pair of stage shows and a Farm Survival Race was crammed into Elk Point's biggest celebration since the Fort George and Buckingham House Bicentennial as the community celebrated its centennial along with Canada Day.

STUFF YOU WON'T HEAR AT THE CALGARY STAMPEDE

The pleasures of...

Ten days ago we had the opportunity to celebrate the 145th birthday of Canada. To all the volunteers, organizers, participants and everyone who came to take part in the activities of that day a big thank you is being given to you. Before that day came to be, it was "the pleasure of planning" that took place over many months. Then when the day arrived it became "the pleasure of happening". Now after it is past it has become "the pleasure of memory".

All of this reminds me of the quote I first saw on a tombstone which I wrote down because I didn't want to forget it. Since that time I have learnt who wrote the quote. Thomas Campbell, a Scottish poet born in Glasgow 27 June 1777 and died 15 June 1844 said: "To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die." What our hearts feel is what is most valuable in life and yes; it is people who make the difference of what is in our hearts. What this reminds me of is how Elk Point celebrates Canada Day. It is the people who make a difference in the results of how good the celebration took place. Elk Point Canada Day celebration is the best - because the people are the best! There is a quote by anonymous that explains it another way. "Yesterday is a memory, tomorrow is a mystery and today is a gift, which is why it is called the present." In other words, the people in Elk Point made Canada Day celebrations in Elk Point a gift. - it was their present to the community.

Speaking of the "the pleasures of ...", from Thomas Campbell, I would like to quote only one verse of his very long poem called "The Pleasures of Hope".

*Hope! When I mourn, with sympathizing mind,
The wrongs of fate, the woes of human kind,
Thy blissful omens bid my spirit see
The boundless fields of rapture yet to be;
I watch the wheels of Nature's mazy plan,
And learn the future by the past of man.*

What this verse reminds me to do is not to focus on what may have gone wrong or people who may have disappointed me. I need to look beyond. In other words, yes, there may have been some things that could have been improved with our Elk Point Canada Day celebrations. But; it is what it is and in the end it all was great. The fireworks were "awesome" because the people who did them made them happen that way. The fireworks were an end to a perfect day.

I will quote another poem that I remember saying in my youth. It is called: "The Salutation of Dawn" by the Indian poet Kalidasa. This poem reminds me to go forward with each new day with new hope. We celebrated Canada's 145th and now we look forward with hope to celebrate each new day.

*Listen to the Exhortation of the Dawn!
Look to this Day!
For it is Life, the very Life of Life.
In its brief course lie all the Verities and Realities of your Existence.
The Bliss of Growth,
The Glory of Action,
The Splendor of Beauty;
For Yesterday is but a Dream,
And To-morrow is only a Vision;
But To-day well lived makes
Every Yesterday a Dream of Happiness,
And every Tomorrow a Vision of Hope.
Look well therefore to this Day!
Such is the Salutation of the Dawn!*

Canada Day action packed

Pancakes were still being served up hot off the griddle when floats and other entries started lining up on Railway Avenue for the Canada Day Parade, while judges made notes on their clipboards and decided the winners of cheques and ribbons. Parade winners were:

Decorated bicycles - Junior: 1. Aiden Petersen, 2. Taylor Ford, 3. Johanna MacKinnon; senior: 1. Rylee Pitman, 2. Mykaela Verenka, 3. Payton Vogel.

Adult Clubs and Organizations - 1. Stoney Lake Stampede, w. Rural Crime Watch, 3. Heritage Lodge, 4. Elks.

Children's Clubs and Organizations - 1. Elk Point Skating Club, 2. Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club.

Business - 1. Play 2 Learn Daycare, 2. Shamrock Valley Enterprises, 3. Servus Credit Union, 4. E-Can Oilfield Services.

Horses and Riders - 1. Gordon Lundgren.

Special Interest / Freestyle - 1. The Klatt Ranch, 2. Hondas.

Antique Vehicles - 1. Laurie Dechaine (1965 Plymouth Fury), 2. Henry Botting (1948 Dodge), 3. Hahn Welding (1965 Mustang).

The parade was still winding its way around town when a jet from CFB

Cold Lake streaked across the sky, made a turn and came back for another look, thrilling departing parade watchers.

Following the parade, many lined up for lunch at the Elk Point Co-op's outdoor barbecue and at the arena concession, but by 1 p.m., the bleachers facing the Canada Day stage were filled with eager spectators. Stephanie Roinier sang O Canada in both English and French as the Canadian flag and the Queen's Diamond Jubilee flags were slowly hoisted aloft, following up with God Save the Queen.

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club was first to entertain, with the older group performing an energetic number and the beginners and senior dancer Taylor Cochrane performing their number from this year's Malanka presentation.

Elk Point's 2011 Canada Day Idol Colter Chapman started off his set with "Canadian Girl," to enthusiastic applause, and was followed by featured entertainer Roinier with numbers in both English and French, in her first of three sets during the afternoon.

Corbin Poitras was back for another year, performing the Sash and Broom dances as well as leading a group from the audience in some "Métis aerobics", as he is fond of calling the Red River Jig. He also returned later in the program to sing both some original songs and country favourites.

Two tiny girls from Red Deer, Kathryn and Sofia Fakeley, sang solos and a duet. They returned later in the program to play their pair of pint-sized cellos.

Another first-time performer, Blake Desjarlais, set toes tapping with his fast-paced medley of Métis dances.

Silhouette Dance School students were also newcomers to the Canada Day stage, and entertained with a solo, duet and group numbers.

During her final number, Roinier invited the Silhouette dancers and others from the stage to come up and join her in a lively dance to wind up the afternoon.

Action moved into the A. G. Ross Arena for the 8th Annual Bear Den Strength Challenge, where eight contestants earned points in the log press, truck pull, side hold, Conan's wheel and a medley of lifting and pulling which earned Elijah Hall of St. Paul the grand prize of $1,000. Hall also won the truck pull and medley sections. Second place went to Mike Masserey of Ardmore, who lifted a massive 245 pounds to also win the log press section. Jason Bowtell of Vermilion won the side hold and Conan's Wheel on the way to third place.

There was just time to enjoy the Elks Lodge's beef-on-a-bun dinner before the brand new Dare Race got underway. Ron Harasiuk, who has coordinated a similar event at the Clandonald Fair for several years, stepped in after Dave Pilisko left the committee. The day wound up with the Canada Day Idol at the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre and a bright and cheerful fireworks show in true Elk Point tradition.

Reminiscing and rodeo at 50th annual Stoney Lake Stampede

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Reminiscing vied with rodeo action for the main attraction at the 50th Annual Stoney Lake Stampede this weekend, as the community looked back with pride on a half century of progress.

The four surviving original association members, Walter Piotrowski, Steve Drobot, Ed Piotrowski and Gunther May, were joined by Joe Tymofichuk, who joined the association in 1973, and Olga Demchuk, who started the Stampede's pancake breakfast tradition in 1964, to cut a pair of anniversary cakes to start off Sunday's rodeo. All but Tymofichuk then climbed aboard a wagon along with 1967 rodeo queen Patsy Zarowny to take part in the grand entry, while Tymofichuk climbed aboard his horse and joined the Stoney Lake riders to escort the wagon into the infield for a special ceremony that saw each of the dignitaries honoured with a plaque. Fifty-year sponsors Elk Point Insurance and Zarowny Motors were also honoured with plaques, and MLA Shayne Saskiw presented the association with a plaque honouring the commitment to this signature event.

Brianne Greening sang O Canada before announcers Dave Hutton and Bernie Poitras called for a moment's silence in memory of founding members John Drobot, Mike Drobot, John Kiss, Steve Yakimowich, Steve Y. Demchuk and Edward Boratyniec and other members who have passed on, and of Jim Lawrence, one of the competitors at the first rodeo, who passed away Saturday.

The freshly painted stands and infield bore little resemblance to those of 50 years ago, the announcers noted. The original arena was built of poles, which legend says were peeled by the wives of the members. Hutton said his earliest memories of the arena were of "Poles and page wire that sort of strained the cowboys."

Hutton and Poitras provided a wealth of information about the early years, that first arena built by volunteers in just a few weeks for the first one-day rodeo, held July 12, 1963. Bucking stock consisted of "wild mountain ponies" brought in by Verne Franklin, with other stock supplied by Steve Drobot, Walter and Ed Piotrowski and John Drobot.

Fifty years later, Jim Thompson Rodeo stock proved more than a match for many of the cowboys, with not one of 19 bullriders making it to the eight-second mark, and successful rides in the other rough stock events few and far between. Judges for this year's rodeo were no strangers to Stoney Lake, Dean Lawes and Derek Hehr having competed here since their junior steer riding days and were only two of many former competitors in attendance.

Bareback rider Kyle Golinowski was one of the exceptions, scoring a 76 in Saturday evening's performance to take that event's championship.

Joe Tymofichuk (left), a member of the association since 1973, joined original members Gunther May, Steve Drobot, Walter Piotrowski, Ed Piotrowski and Olga Demchuk to cut the 50th Anniversary cake at Stoney Lake Stampede on Sunday.

Stoney Lake Stampede visitors Ernie Poitras and Elsie Oryschuk pored over a collection of posters and newspaper clippings from all 49 rodeos, painstakingly assembled over the last few months by Stampede Association member Pat Swedgan (centre).

www.pitch-in.ca

There's no denying the Bonnyville Braves midget competitive team is finding it challenging playing at the tier one level. When you're up against the cream of the crop every game, you're facing tough pitching and teams that hit the ball well, any mistake you make on the field may cost you in the game. At the end of June the Braves were re-tiered and the past two week-ends the Braves have been playing against tier one teams, facing Red Deer, Camrose, Vegreville, Acme, Lacombe, and South Jasper Place. Their record is two wins and four losses.

Every game has gone the full seven innings, only one of the games did the boys have a bad inning and it was game over at that point, but the rest of the games have been very close right up until the final pitch, in fact losing two of the games by a home run in the sixth or seventh inning. This coming week-end the boys of summer will be up against Rocky Mountain House and North Peace. More in depth details about the games next week.

Here's a young guy who is having no problem playing at the competitive level, Dustyn Pankiw was picked up by Goodfish Mosquitoes after the regular Lakeland minor ball season wrapped up and has shown some great potential, pitching this past weekend in Barrhead allowing no hits on 40 pitches the maximum allowed at the mosquito level. His batting has done some heavy damage as well, two home runs against Slave Lake and 3 RBI's, and two home runs against Enoch and another 5 RBI's. We will be reading more about Dustyn and his team mates in the next few weeks, when they will be playing in the mosquito community tier one provincial final, the location has not yet been determined.

Tyler Warawa reports that the Rookie boys finished off a great year of ball June 24 in St. Paul with their year-end tournament. In Rookie ball, most teams don't like to keep score but our boys always knew or at least were asking who was winning and what the score was. They finished the year with an unofficial 11-3 record! The improvement we saw from the beginning of the year where we thought we may never see an out to getting our first triple play, it was amazing how much the boys improved. Everyone on the team became a very good hitter and with our new pitching machine, our team impressed most teams we played with how well all the boys could hit. The boys couldn't believe the year was over and were hoping we could play a few more games, guess it will keep them hungry for next year. We had a great team this year and congratulations to the boys and their hard work, they were a fun bunch to coach. Also a big thanks to all the parents for their help and making it a great year.

A big happy birthday going out today to my daughter -in- law and the mother of two of our precious grandchildren, Kristin Bassett.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week. "I'm not the manager because I'm always right, but I'm always right because I'm the manager." Last week's answer to- "The worst thing is the day you realize you want to win more than the players do." - Gene Mauch.

Camp at Whitney Lake

By BEVERLY SMITH
Review Contributor

Whitney Lakes Provincial Park spent much time and money during the 2011-2012 winter-season upgrading the Whitney Lake camp ground. After being designated 'day use only' for the past two years; it has been reopened to camping. There are 33 new 'electrified' large camp sites and a similar number of 'no-service' camp sites. Work on the beach and a new beach play site for the kids makes this an exciting destination for families. The water level is up in all four lakes that make up this park (Laurier, Borden, Ross and Whitney). This means at Whitney Lake (and the other lakes) it is easy to put boats into the water. This park also includes a wonderful system of walking / hiking / biking paths.

Ross lake camp site requires 'on-line' registration for electrical service, but (for this year) Whitney Lake is a first-come gets the site.

"Imagine" at the Elk Point Municipal Library's 2012 Summer Reading Program.

By BAILEY OSTER

Elk Point Municipal Library

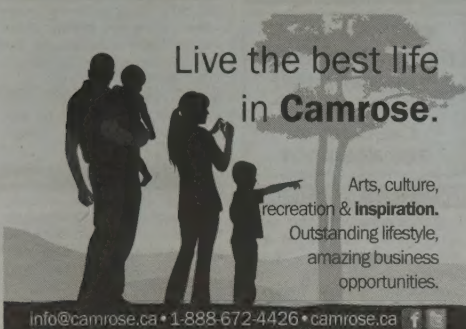

We will be starting our free 6 week program on July 12. It will run every Tuesday and Thursday from 1:00 - 3:00. It is open to all ages and we invite you to come and join us for stories, games, crafts, and awesome prizes! Also, for older kids who do not want to join the full program, or kids who do not have the time we are also handing out reading logs which will give you another chance to win some awesome prizes! Just fill the log out with all the books you have read over the summer and hand it in before August 22, 2012 to be eligible. You can call or visit the library for more information about this year's summer programming. The Elk Point Library is also happy to announce that our summer entertainer will be coming to the library on Monday, July 23rd at 10:00am. This year's performer will be Ernestine Hatpin and the Prairie Dogs. It is free to come and watch and everyone is welcome.

Kevin Drobot presented Victor Stepa of Elk Point Insurance with a plaque honoring that firm's 50 years of sponsorship. Zarowny Motors also qualified for the prestigious recognition.

Talented hoop dancer Lakota Tootoosis shows the full scope of having many hoops in action as he turns his back to the audience in this skilled move.

Saturday was also the lucky day for junior bullriding winner Brian Symington, tie-down roper Dallas Mc Dougall with a 9.6-second run, junior barrel racer Leanne Fry and peewee barrel racer Kailey Beebe. Sunday's top novice horse score, a 56, went to Wacey Manning, and Rebecca Paradis swept around the cloverleaf in 16.113 to win the ladies' barrels.

Three special events were also part of the rodeo, with hoop dancers Jesse McMann-Sparvier and Lakota Tootoosis putting on a colourful exhibition of their skills, and the Hearts of the West demonstrating their whip-cracking, rope tricks and trick riding for an appreciative crowd. Sunday's show wound up with a true Stoney Lake classic, the Steer and Stoneboat Race, this year dedicated to the memory of Corey Marcoux. Six teams came forward to rope and saddle their critters and take a wild ride on the stoneboat, with Jason Marcoux's team getting the job done first for the trophy.

The weekend also featured Saturday's western-themed trade show and a ranch rodeo with team penning, team doctoring, team sorting, trailer loading and a rescue race, with Stockman's Ranch, the Buckaroos and Three Chicks and a Rooster taking the top three spots. An open-air dance followed Saturday night's rodeo performance, and everyone was up bright and early for Sunday's free pancake breakfast. The smallest youngsters enjoyed taking part in Sunday's Best Dressed Cowboy and Cowgirl competition, won by Sam Mahon and Emily Yaremko, while those 10 and under were eager to cowboy up in the calf scramble.

Lisa loves getting up early. On weekdays it's to help co-workers reach their full potential and help customers reach their goals. On weekends it's to lure that big catch. She knows that elusive "big one" is out there. And that one day it'll be as attracted to her lure as her customers are to the personal service, advice and innovative financial solutions that make Lisa—and her branch team—definite keepers. atb.com/lisa
